Guidance Notes

The 'appropriateness test' is a requirement introduced from 1st November 2007 by the Financial Conduct Authority. It applies to complex investments. If you wish to instruct PSG SIPP Limited to make an investment defined as a 'Complex' investment, we ask that you answer the questions that follow before we make the investment on your behalf.

From the answers given, PSG SIPP Limited will try to assess if you have the necessary knowledge to understand the risks involved. If you answer 'No' to some of the questions, or fail to answer any question, this will most likely suggest the investment being considered may not be appropriate and we will recommend you re-consider.

PSG SIPP Limited does not provide financial advice and will not assess whether the investment meets your financial requirements.

'Complex' investments include anything involving derivatives or where the opportunity to sell is infrequent and include

- futures, options and contracts for differences
- units in a tax-exempt unauthorised unit trust
- shares in collective investment schemes that are not FCA-recognised
- structured products

'Non-complex' investments are

- shares listed on a recognised stock exchange
- bonds
- units/shares in UCITS qualifying investment schemes
- money market instruments
