Important Update: Access Your New AESF Investor Portal

As previously communicated in our Significant Event Notice (SEN) dated 5 December 2025, we are writing to remind you that your login details for the new AESF Investor Portal are scheduled to be issued on 12 January 2026. (if this date changes, a further update will be issued to you)

The platform provider, Praemium, will send your login credentials directly to you by email. This email will include a temporary password, which you will be prompted to reset upon your first login.

Important things to note:

- The email will be sent from donotreply@notify.praemium.com
- Please check your spam or junk folder on 12 January
- We strongly recommend adding this email address/domain to your safe sender list to ensure delivery

As part of the login process, you will also be required to set up Multi-Factor Authentication (MFA) using your preferred authentication app, such as Google Authenticator or Microsoft Authenticator. This is a standard security requirement to protect your account. Please check this quick start guide.

If you need assistance at any stage, Praemium has prepared helpful guidance in their Help Centre, which can be viewed within your Investor Portal.

Please be assured that our Client Services team will also be available to support you should you need any help accessing the portal or completing the setup process.

Thank you for your patience during this transition. We appreciate your cooperation and are here to assist you every step of the way.
